

Law of best approximation for complex continued fractions

NICOLA OSWALD

We consider the convergents to a given complex number which arise from its Hurwitz continued fraction expansion. It appears that with respect to approximation quality these convergents behave rather different from the real case.