Japanese Studies is a multidisciplinary subsidiary programme co-ordinated by the Architecture Department (history of architecture) and the History Department. Overall administration is organized by the History Department.

Admission requirements

Japanese Studies can be studied by any student presently registered and enrolled at the University.

Study guidance

Study guidance is offered by Juha Saunavaara, the lecturer of East Asian History, phone: +358-8-553 3327.

Japanese Studies

Japanese Studies is open to all students as a minor subject, and offers a varied and comprehensive opportunity to familiarize oneself with the unique nature of Japanese language and culture. Students are free to create their Basic and Intermediate level study packages from the available courses; or even merely study individual courses.

Practical information

Professor of History Olavi K. Fält is responsible for administration of the programme. Students must sign-up for book examinations at least 10 days before the examination via WebOodi. Lecture examination procedures vary and are made known during the individual lecture courses.

Study packages and learning outcomes

Students are free to compile Basic and Intermediate-level study packages from the courses offered, and may focus on a particular topic, e.g. Japanese language, Japanese history and culture or East and Southeast Asian studies. After completing the Japanese Studies package, via their area(s) of focus, students have the necessary skills for employment that requires knowledge of Japanese and other East Asian cultures and languages.

Upon completion of Basic Level Japanese Studies, students will have acquired an understanding of the focal aspects of Japanese culture from the perspectives of history, modern society and language; and will have acquired the skills necessary for pursuing further advanced study and analysis in the fields of spoken and written language, or a broader study of Asian culture. Students who have completed the Basic Studies package are especially qualified to study the differences and similarities as well as the challenges of cultural interaction between Western and Japanese culture.

Upon completion of Intermediate Level Japanese Studies, students will have a comprehensive understanding of Japanese culture, history, societal structures and language, and they will have acquired the necessary skills to study in Japan and work in situations that require an understanding of Japanese and East Asian cultures. Students are especially qualified to apply their written and spoken skills to ensure successful cultural interaction.
