The students taking this course must have had English as an A1 or A2 language (or equivalent English skills should have been acquired otherwise). The course 'Reading for Academic Purposes' (902003Y) is a pre-requisite (unless exempted).

ECTS Credits:

The student workload is 80 hours/ 3 ECTS credits.

Language of instruction:

English

Timing:

Geography , 3rd year autumn term

Learning outcomes:

Objective: The aim of this course is to develop students' oral/aural fluency in a range of general, scientific and academic communication situations.

Learning outcomes: By the end of the course, you are expected to have:

- 1. provided evidence of oral fluency in pair work communication and small group discussions
- 2. developed effective language learning strategies through autonomous homework
- 3. demonstrated the ability to prepare a field-related presentation with appropriate field-related vocabulary
- 4. demonstrated lecture-listening skills in field-related situations.

Contents:

Skills in listening, speaking, and giving presentations are practised in the course. Homework tasks include autonomous work to support the classroom learning and the task of preparing and presenting a scientific presentation.

Mode of delivery:

- be able to present clear, detailed descriptions and viewpoints on topics related to cross-cultural issues.

Contents:

Research has shown that business failures abroad have been and are a result of the inability to understand and adapt to foreign ways of thinking and acting, not technical or professional incompetence. International negotiation comes hand in hand with many challenges which arise from basic cultural differences. Even within one culture successful negotiation is dependent on many interconnected variables. In cross-cultural negotiation, this variety of variables broadens and values disperse. In this course we will examine the concept of culture, the culture triangle,

12 variables in the context of seven cultures among other things. We will review the art of negotiation in general and examine prescribed "ways of doing business" and dimensions of business in different cultures. The course will have a short study group segment in which students will search for information about doing business and negotiating within a culture of their choice. The study group results will be presented to the class in a presentation.

CEFR level B2-C1

ECTS Credits:

The course workload is 53 hours.

Learning outcomes:

The aim of the course is to help students at all levels to better conceptualise what constitutes a good presentation, and to develop their confidence in speaking to and interacting with an audience.

Learning Outcomes:

After the course, students are expected to be able to:

- use principles of good presentation structuring for optimal clarity
- establish and maintain audience rapport in the presentation setting
- speak to the audience without relying on pre-written material
- use principles of good slideshow design to complement preparation, subject knowledge and English language skills
- use observation of self and others to continue developing and fine-tuning presentation skills

Contents:

In the early weeks of the course, an emphasis on oral exercises in small groups, including short impromptu speeches, supports development in oral fluency. Students are introduced to and discuss key concepts in presentation giving, for example getting started, topic research, organisation of content, clear articulation, use of visual aids, and audience interaction. Thus, students gain confidence through practice in taking the floor, debating points, and giving peer feedback. In the second half of the course, students prepare, rehearse and give their final presentation, which is a longer, more developed academic speech. After the event, using feedback received from teacher and classmates, students write a self-assessment of their own performance.

Assessment methods and criteria:

Continuous assessment will pay attention to classroom participation and the quality of completed smaller coursework tasks as well as that of the final presentation.

Recommendation: BEFORE completion of *902001Y Academic CommunicationLearning outcomes:

The general aim is to be able to read more extensive academic - general or discipline-specific - texts with increased confidence and at sufficient speed and to process it critically. More specifically, the aim is to be able to read and understand main ideas of an academic text, scan sufficiently quickly for relevant details, and extract information from the readings.

Learning outcomes: By the end of the course, you are expected to be able to

- apply various reading skills to extract information and to learn content from English readings in academic and professional contexts
- express and summarize contents of text in your own words with increased confidence
- demonstrate skills in critical reading
- identify how scientific text and academic articles are organized
- distinguish and recognize meaningful parts of academic vocabulary to infer meanings of words

Contents:

The course comprises discussion on skills and strategies for reading (metaskills), and demonstration of these skills in pair/group projects and presentations. In addition to this, the students will familiarize themselves and display sufficient academic vocabulary skills, word formation in particular.

While practicing the necessary metaskills the students perform detailed analysis of texts or journal articles in their own field of study.

Working methods: The scope of the course is 2 op, consisting of contact hours, tutoring, and student work input independently and in pairs/groups.

Mode of delivery:

Status:

The course is part of 902011P Technical English 3.

Required proficiency level:

ECTS Credits:

2 ECTS credits. The workload is 53 hours.

Language of instruction:

English

Timing:

The 1st or 2nd year of studies. The course may be taken after completion of PET (Professional English for Technology – 2 op).

Learning outcomes:

The general aim of this module is 1) to help you become aware of the strategies which best promote your skills to learn and memorise vocabulary, and 2) to activate and broaden your basic scientific vocabulary, i.e. the core vocabulary of scientific texts, which is principally the same regardless of the field (the Academic Word List).

The ultimate aim is to help you gain the skills to read and write academic / scientific text and to discuss related topics.

Learning outcomes: By the end of the course, you are expected to be able to

- 1) define what you need to know about a word or a lexical phrase in order to learn vocabulary
- 2) give examples of how words are built from meaningful parts
- 3) apply vocabulary learning techniques

- 4) explain and apply general academic / scientific vocabulary (AWL)
- 5) outline the characteristics of informal vs. formal / academic vocabulary
- 6) demonstrate basic academic writing and communication skills.

Contents:

To help you achieve the learning outcomes, you will be given many varied written and oral activities which focus primarily on practising vocabulary learning strategies, word formation, and the use of the most frequent academic vocabulary (AWL sublists).

Mode of delivery:

Contact teaching

Learning activities and teaching methods:

The course meets regularly for two hours per week for most of the term. Active participation is essential.

Homework consists of some reading, one piece of written work, and the preparation of three short presentations, which will be given in class to small groups of students. During the course, you will be required to complete three more extensive tasks (Reading, Listening & Writing Assignments), which give you a chance to develop and demonstrate the learnt skills.

In addition, adequate mastery of the target vocabulary (AWL) will be verified in two tests, one around the midpoint and the other towards the end of the module.

Target group:

Students of the Faculty of Technology

Prerequisites and co-requisites:

The course may be taken after completion of PET (Professional English for Technology – 2 op).

Recommended optional programme components:

This module is an optional part of 902011P Technical English 3.

Recommended or required reading:

Course materials will be provided by the teacher, and a copy fee will be charged.

Assessment methods and criteria:

Regular and active participation in the weekly sessions will be observed in continuous assessment. In addition to this, completion of the module requires satisfactory completion of 1) set homework, 2) the three assignments, and 3) the two vocabulary tests.

Timing:

In the Department of Architecture, your English studies take place in the spring term of your first year and continue in the autumn of the second year.

Learning outcomes:

By the end of the course, you are expected

- to demonstrate efficient strategies and methods for developing and maintaining your English proficiency
- to have acquired the core vocabulary required for professional language use in your field
- to have developed oral and written skills and presentation techniques necessary for working in a multicultural environment
- to have extended your language, culture and communication skills at a B2-C1 CEFR level in accordance with your own professional needs.

Contents:

In this course, you will focus on developing oral and written English language skills which enable you to follow developments in your own field of architecture and get along in an international, intercultural environment with a sufficient level of proficiency.

These two courses (first year spring term 902011P-38 Tekniikan englanti 3 op and second year autumn term 902011P-39 Tekniikan englanti 3 op) focus on developing professional and academic communication and field-related competences. You will participate in simulated professional events including a project presentation, building/design presentation, presentation of architectural solutions or styles and a case study. One part of the autumn course (902011P-39 Tekniikan englanti) is integrated with your subject course in urban design and planning. In this section you will write an argumentative essay based on a compulsory text from among the reading list you get in the urban design and planning course. The essay will follow the conventions of academic and scientific writing in architecture, which you will get to know in this English course.

In addition, the course helps you to direct your own learning, encouraging you to reflect upon your developing English skills and strategies for effective language learning. A requirement of the course is to document your own learning in a European Language Portfolio \(ELP\), which is a tool for lifelong language and intercultural learning and a means for describing language skills in order to support mobility within Europe.

Mode of delivery:

This teaching is offered in the Department of Architecture premises in the form of contact teaching and independent study. Learning outcomes:

Designed for students with weaker self-confidence as English-speakers, this course aims to facilitate the development of oral fluency. The lessons offer extensive speaking practice in pairs and small groups, activating passive knowledge of vocabulary and structure, and helping you gain confidence in your English speaking and listening skills.

Learning outcomes - By the end of the course, you are expected to:

1. have demonstrated oral fluency for dealing with a wide variety of academic, professional and social situations
2. have demonstrated a reasonable degree of spontaneity when expressing your own thoughts and opinions in paired or small group discussions,
3. have demonstrated understanding of others' contributions in paired or small group discussions
4. have initiated self-directed language learning strategies, including personal goal-setting and self-evaluation, to help you learn effectively in future.

Contents:

This module offers a comfortable environment in which to practice speaking over a wide range of different oral communication activities, including simulations, role-play, improvised or guided situational dialogue, and free conversation. You will also develop your English communication skills and language learning strategies through self-directed homework activities, on which you will report regularly in class. Learning outcomes:

The aim of the course is to help students at all levels to better conceptualise what constitutes a good presentation, and to develop their confidence in speaking to and interacting with an audience.

Learning Outcomes:

After the course, students are expected to be able to:

- use principles of good presentation structuring for optimal clarity
- establish and maintain audience rapport in the presentation setting
- speak to the audience without relying on pre-written material
- use principles of good slideshow design to complement preparation, subject knowledge and English language skills
- use observation of self and others to continue developing and fine-tuning presentation skills

Contents:

In the early weeks of the course, an emphasis on oral exercises in small groups, including short impromptu speeches, supports development in oral fluency. Students are introduced to and discuss key concepts in presentation giving, for example getting started, topic research, organisation of content, clear articulation, use of visual aids, and audience interaction. Thus, students gain confidence through practice in taking the floor, debating points, and giving peer feedback. In the second half of the course, students prepare, rehearse and give their final presentation, which is a longer, more developed academic speech. After the event, using feedback received from teacher and classmates, students write a self-assessment of their own performance.

Status:

This course can be taken as part of the requirements in foreign languages for 2nd and 3rd year students of the Oulu Business School.

Required proficiency level:

ECTS Credits:

2 op/ ECTS credits / 53 hours of work

Language of instruction:

English

Timing:

for 2nd and 3rd year of studies

Learning outcomes:

Objective: Students will be expected to handle readings on economic and political issues. They will need to be able to contribute their ideas and opinions in various discussion settings. There are relatively few writing tasks; however, the students need to have a good command of the English grammar.

Learning outcomes: By the end of the course students are able to:

- read critically and analyse what they have read by examining and discussing world issues
- discuss and participate actively and effectively in group discussions
- present information in presentations of a pre-selected country.

Contents:

This course serves as a map on the world and brings together many related fields of study under the broad categories of geography, political science, economics, and mass communications. At the start of the course each student is asked to choose a region of the world he/she would like to get to know more in-depth.

Mode of delivery:

See below

Learning activities and teaching methods:

In-class discussion lies at the core of this course and is fuelled by the many assigned readings. It is therefore crucial that each student read and interact with any given text before each lesson. Furthermore, students should be prepared to give occasional, brief presentations.

Target group:

Students of the Oulu Business School.

Prerequisites and co-requisites:

Recommended optional programme components:

Recommended or required reading:

These will be provided and the students will pay a photocopy fee.

Assessment methods and criteria:

Most of the course rests on both the preparedness of students, as they do the required readings prior to the class discussions, and their actual performance in these discussions. Continuous evaluation is used.

Grading:

Grading: 1-5 scale.
