

Clayman, Steven E. (2002). Disagreements and third parties: Dilemmas of

Downing, Angela (2001). "Surely you knew!": 'surely' as a marker of evidentiality and

Du Bois, John W. (1999). Dialogic Syntax - theory in progress. Santa Barbara, Department of Linguistics, University of California:

Du Bois, John W. (2001). Towards a Dialogic Syntax. Santa Barbara, Department of Linguistics, University of California:

Du Bois, John W. (2001). Stance: Intersubjectivity and the pragmatic differential in dialogic interaction. Santa Barbara, Department of Linguistics, University of California:

Duranti, Alessandro & Brenneis, Donald (1986). Text. The audience as co-author.

Goodwin, Marjorie Harness (1996). Informings and announcements in their

The intersubjectivity of interaction. Amsterdam/Philadelphia: John Benjamins.

Micronesian Atoll and Their Challenge to Western Theory. Chicago, IL: Chicago University Press.

Merritt, Marilyn (1994). Repetition in situated discourse – exploring its forms and and Speech 34: 207–234.

Stein, Dieter & Wright, Susan, ed. (1995). Subjectivity and Subjectivisation:

Thompson, Sandra A. & Mulac, Anthony (1991). The discourse conditions for the

